

Call for Participation

Fem Fest 2024

Radio Echo X Radio WORM present: Feminist Frequencies

8 – 10th of March 2024

In commemoration of the 8th of march international women's day WORM is hosting another edition of the Fem Fest, a festival dedicated to feminist empowerment. This year's theme is feminist frequencies and there is an important role for radio as a medium, focusing on listening to the voices of feminist makers and feminist struggles in Rotterdam. For our 3-day radio program we would like to invite all artists and makers that feel addressed to take part and broadcast on Radio WORM and Radio Echo.

Feminism to us is intrinsically linked to inclusion, diversity and collectivity. As the Radio Echo collective, we would like to incorporate this into our facilitation of the programme and are therefore issuing a call for participation.

We want to start an open curatorial experiment and invite everyone to take part who:

- Feels addressed by a feminist festival
- Is interested in, or working with radio, sound, spoken word or any other audio-broadcast suitable format
- Wants to explore what feminist modes of curation could be

There will be no selection but a collective co-creation instead!

We do reserve the right to reject proposals that promote any form of discrimination.

Over a course of 3 meetings we plan to meet and curate the program of feminist frequencies.

The purpose of the meetings is to invite you to take part in the curation. However, these meetings are not compulsory and you can decide on your level of engagement.

Note: Radio Worm is a voluntarily run radio therefore, there are no fees for radio contributions. Radio Worm and the Fem Fest have an attractive reach in Rotterdam and we believe it is a great opportunity to showcase work, especially already existing one, and connect with other makers.
